

We are working together to solve the grand challenges of creating sustainable food, energy and water system and resilient rural communities.

Recruiting Master's and Ph.D. students for our first cohort, August 2019.

Majors:

Agricultural Econ
Biological/Ag Engineering
Chemical Engineering
Civil Engineering
Mechanical Engineering
Sociology

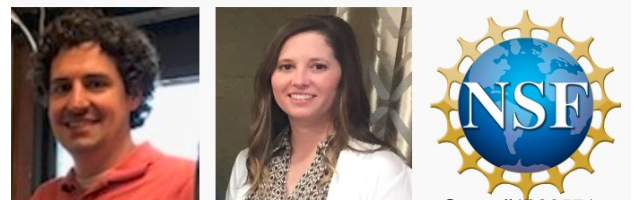

NRT faculty: Melanie Derby (ME), Stacy Hutchinson (BAE), Prathap Parameswaran (CE), Jonathan Aguilar (BAE), Matt Sanderson (SOC), Ryan Hansen (CHE), Nathan Hendricks (AG ECON), Gaea Hock (AG COMM/ED)

NSF sponsored, interdisciplinary training includes $34,000 stipend and full tuition (18 credit hours/year). Conduct interdisciplinary research and make a real impact on local communities.

Fellowships require U.S. citizenship, permanent residency, or green card, although other students can participate through GTA or GRAs.

How to Apply:

1. Email derbym@ksu.edu for free application waiver
2. Apply to KSU graduate school by 1/8/19
3. Indicate NRT interest in your personal statement

Grant #1828571

Email derbym@ksu.edu for free application waiver
More information at nrt.research.ksu.edu